Description

Sundance

Sundance is a really nice, big, colorful, 8 year old John mule that is mostly black with brown points in the winter but sheds off with a lot of blue roan hairs all over his body in the summer. He has a really unique color that is hard to describe. He is by World Champion Jack and producer of world champion mules "Jacque Benny" and out of a really nice Skipper W X Leo bred mare. He is a "measured" 16 hands tall, not just an estimate. He has size, color, a wonderful disposition, an extremely smooth ground covering walk, a long extended trot that can cover more ground in a day than you will want to cover, and he will be ready to go again the next day. He has been ridden literally hundreds of miles in the 3 years we have owned him and will go anywhere you point him. He will lead out at the front of any group or be perfectly content anywhere in the lineup or at the rear keeping track of all the other riders. He has extremely good ground manners, is good about his ears and picking up feet, easy to saddle, bridle, and mount, and will pack anything you are tall enough to put on him. He has been desensitized to everything we can think of, will haul any kind of game or pack, has been around dogs, bear, buffalo, and just about any other kind of game animal you can imagine. You can lead him up to any kind of pack load or game and load him without tying him or worrying about him. If he wasn't such a great ride, he would be our main pack animal. He has never been shown or ridden in the arena much but he is a beautiful mover and looks great under either Western or English tack. He handles himself well in slick rock country and crosses water without hesitation all the way from wet meadows to swimming depth beaver ponds. He likes people and will bond with you quickly. I am nearly 70 and have owned horses and mules my whole life as well as spent 35 years as a 4-H Agent in charge of a County and State horse program, and he is as nice of an animal as I have ever been around. He will definitely get you noticed when you are riding him. Please feel free to contact me any time and I will send you more photos, videos, or any additional information you might want. Feel free to come by and try him out, he will sell himself. We are close to mountains and other beautiful riding areas and he is one you don't want to miss out on.
